Nathan's Notes...

It's a new year! It's a time for turning our attention to new projects and goals, but also a time to wrap up our goals and plans from the previous year. We'll be focusing on the latter of those two today. In 2025, we set out to focus on "Much Fruit"-prioritizing lives of service for Christ. We are far from being done with a focus on service. In fact, we hope to continue prioritizing that and start providing practical opportunities for us to use what we've learned in this past year.

But today we are wrapping up our formal focus on service by finishing the discussion we started last week about principles for practicing spiritual gifts. Last Sunday I gave you an important principle for understanding giftedness according to the Bible: some gifts have a specific foundational purpose. But we left many questions unanswered in the process. My hope is for us to gain more insight today by taking a more practical look at the roles and uses of certain gifts.
