Rick's Reflections...

A few weeks ago, we talked about being at a "Crossroads" and having to make a major, life altering decision. This morning, we are going to pick up on that theme and look at some well-known decisions made by people in Scripture and see what we can learn from them. Our text challenges us to choose wisely. It really does matter.

There are both positive and negative lessons here. Every choice we will look at had consequences that were the result of those choices. As we examine these decisions, we will see patterns and gain insight into what we can do to equip ourselves to make good ones ourselves.

When we do, God is glorified and we are blessed, even when we can't see what He sees. As we have stated many times before, trusting God and walking by faith is the only way to experience a truly blessed life.

Aligning our life with His will is the secret to not only good decisions but to a life of purpose and impact. We can't go back and re-do our past decisions, but we sure can make better ones going forward.
